Man tied, robbed in home

Two armed men forced their way into the home of James Evans, 3040 Iowa St., at gunpoint Saturday afternoon, bound Evans with torn bed-sheets and ransacked the house.

Evans told police that the two men, who inquired about a former tenant at Evans' home, escaped with $41.

The victim said the two men came to the back door of his home about 5:15 p.m. and asked if "Carter" was there. Evans told authorities that until a week ago he had rented a room to Carter Schuster who operates a tavern in St. Louis.

One of the men produced a revolver and forced Evans into a bedroom where he was bound. While the men were ransacking the bedroom, one of them asked, "Where does Carter keep his shotgun?" Evans told police.

Evans remained bound for about an hour before a son returned home and released him.

While officers were taking the report of the robbery Schuster

Drowns at Long Lake

John Clift, 60, of 7 Kaseberg Drive, was pronounced dead upon arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 11:35 a.m. Friday after apparently drowning in Long Lake.

According to his wife, Mrs. Imogene Clift, her husband was swimming and playing with grandchildren and other members of his family directly behind his home. He saw a log and said he was going to swim out to get it. Mrs. Clift said he turned around as if to come back, raised and arm and went under the surface.

Members of the family went into the water to try to save him, but had trouble finding the body.

Long Lake fire department divers were called and found the body about 10 feet from the shore in approximately five feet of water.

Born in Camden, Tenn., he had lived here 25 years and was retired at the Granite City Army Installation.

He was member of the Church of the Nazarene.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two sons, Billy Clift of Nashville, Tenn., and Bobby Clift of Paragould, Ark.; one daughter, Mrs. Dean Thomas Layloff, district chairman, and William Mullen, council executive.

Freeman, his wife, Marjorie, and their 11-year-old daughter Debbie currently are living in East Alton, but plan to move to the Quad-City area soon.

He formerly was a technical writer for National Vendors and holds a bachelor's of education degree from Southern Illinois.

Steel key part of nation's 200 years

(Following is the American Iron and Steel Institute's view of the history of the steel industry in this nation during the past two centuries, and a Bicentennial Year look into the future. It was prepared by W. E. Mullenstein, Lukens Steel Co. chairman and president.)

The job that we will have in the post-Bicentennial years is immense and essential.

It is both immense and essential because so all encompassing were the efforts of the steel industry in the pre-Bicentennial years that, today, it is virtually impossible to name an industry, an aspect of American life or a human activity in which steel does not play a major role.

Two hundred years ago, we were a nation and our industry were at a crossroads in our development.

Looking back, we know that we chose a path which, in large measure, changed the course of history. Today, the steel industry stands at a new crossroads, facing similar challenges in terms of growth and the vital role it must, and I believe will, play in continuing to serve the nation's materials needs and in furnishing leadership in the many avenues of human relations.

The events and causes which led to the American Revolution were as diverse as they were complex and they began long before 1775.

Our revolt against the British was not a totally spontaneous movement. Some of its details were planned carefully and executed by some of the most intelligent and spirited people in the land. Indeed, it could not have succeeded had it not been well organized.

After our separation from England with the Declaration of Independence in 1776, the first challenge to our nation was to

Decision on maintenance of sewers

Action on a proposal that Granite City undertake a five-year program of sanitary sewer repairs and maintenance, beginning in the Nameoki area and later extending to all parts of the city, is scheduled at tonight's regular meeting of the City Council.

A suggestion that the council act on the plan in tonight's meeting was made by Mayor Paul Schuler at a special council session last week in which a report on the condition of sanitary sewers in the Nameoki area, as related to the underground water table, was presented.

The report by the Sverdrup & Parcel and Associates engineering firm of St. Louis, retained by the city a year ago to determine means by which the city could solve the problem of a growing number of sanitary sewer breaks, suggested a series of "corrective measures" which may be taken in a long-term program.

In addition, studies of the ground water table which has risen substantially in the Granite City area in recent years and believed primarily responsible for the 43 sewer breaks occurring in the city since early 1973, was incorporated in the report on the basis of studies headed by Dr. Robert Koepke, geology professor at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The report included a series of five maps outlining different sections of the Nameoki area in which sanitary sewer lines are now below the water table and in which future problems could be expected to develop.

Dr. Koepke told the council that the maps, which also show the location of existing sewer breaks or those which have been repaired, were based on ground tests in which the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers participated.

Concert tomorrow

The Granite City Park District's "Music Under the Stars" choruses will present their second concert of the current season at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Wilson Park pavilion.

The public is invited to attend. Admission is free and seating will be provided, the director said.

Big parade on Thursday

More than 100 units, including 55 separate Shrine groups, will be in the lineup of the annual Shrine parade which will be held in Granite City Thursday evening.

The Shrine parade is a prelude to the Shrine circus programs held in Granite City and Belleville each year to benefit Shrine programs aiding crippled children and burn patients.

Shriner Tom Hundley of Granite City, parade chairman, said the line march will begin as it has in the past, at 23rd Street and Madison Avenue, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The parade will begin promptly at 7:30 p.m., he said, proceeding north on Madison Avenue to Nameoki Road and thence to the Nameoki Village Shopping Center where it will disband.

Twenty units of Aired Temple will participate in the parade lineup and 35 units from out of the area have indicated they will take part in the event. Other units will include official cars, senior citizen groups, floats prepared by organizations, bands and fire department units. Moolah Temple of St. Louis will send its "Pipes and Drums" unit to march in the parade.

A similar parade will be held in Belleville Friday night and will include Scott Air Force marching units and a number of additional units from Moolah Temple. The Belleville parade will start at 16th and Main Streets.

With the Aired Shrine circus opening Saturday, July 12, at 2 p.m. at the Belleville Fairgrounds, it will be followed by a 7:30 performance that night.

On Sunday, July 13, there will be three shows starting at 1 p.m., 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

The circus will then move to the Tri-City Speedway on Route 203 and will open here on Wednesday, July 16, at 7:30 p.m. There will be a performance on Thursday, July 17, and one on Friday, July 18, both at 7:30 p.m.

Ruling for nursing home reversed, 37 reinstated

A three-member panel representing the National Labor Relations Board Thursday overruled a Dec. 27, 1974, ruling by an NLRB administrative law judge and ordered Colonial Haven Nursing Home, Inc., to immediately offer to reinstate about 37 employees who were replaced during picketing at the nursing home at 3600 Stearns Avenue, St. Louis, in April 1974, plus interest.

The order includes a provision that the company reimburse those employees the amount of money they would have earned if they had been working at the nursing home since the strike began April 27, 1974, plus interest.

The company also is to recognize a union for employees. If the company is unable to successfully negotiate the ruling, some observers believe the back pay to former employees could exceed $200,000.

A company spokesman said the reversal of Administrative Law Judge Jerry B. Stone's decision is unfortunate and all necessary legal actions will be undertaken to protect the jobs of those presently employed. Thursday's order requires the nursing home to immediately offer to reinstate all employees who were involved in the strike. The employees are to be returned to their former jobs, or if the jobs are not open, they are to be given equivalent positions with equivalent pay. Seniority rights are to be recognized from the date of employment.

Service and Hospital Employees Local 50 is to be recognized as bargaining agent for the employees.

In December, Judge Stone ruled that the strike, allegedly to gain union recognition, was unlawful in that the NLRB had refused to recognize a union for the nursing home employees.

He said he found insufficient evidence to support claims that the company granted raises to some employees to discourage union activity.

Stone said he found some evidence of interrogation of employees by the company concerning union activities and that one employee was requested to report on the union activities to company representatives, but did not feel there was sufficient interrogation to warrant action against the company.

He also said he did not feel that a company representative's actions in taking photographs of striking employees was against NLRB rules, since he felt the strike was lawful.

The three-member panel disagreed with all four of Judge Stone's findings.

Stone said he felt the striking employees were replaced because they struck illegally.

The panel disagreed. The panel ordered the company to post a notice at the nursing home notifying of the ruling and to offer back to those who they will be reinstated, if they wish, and that the company will not interfere with union activities.

Weekend rain 1.6 inches

After eight days of dry weather, a severe electrical storm and heavy rainfall hit the Quad-City area Saturday night, followed by periodical thunderstorms through Sunday morning.

Rainfall of 1.35 inches from 8 p.m. Saturday to 8 a.m. Sunday was reported at the Chain of Rocks locks where weather records are maintained for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. Another .25 of an inch was recorded Sunday, bringing the weekend precipitation to 1.60 inches.

Lightning during Saturday night's storm and early Sunday morning resulted in power outages at several hundred homes, according to a spokesman at Illinois Power Co. Most of the outages were corrected within 30 minutes, the spokesman said.

National Lead was without power, three local after lightning damaged a circuit breaker at 12:30 a.m. Sunday. The power company reported even more serious power disruptions occurred in Wood River, Alton and Belleville.

Rainfall totaled only 1.64 inches, a .25 inches below the normal June rainfall of 4.27 inches. The June fall brought to 18.94 inches the total precipitation for the first six months of the year which is only .87 of an inch above normal for the six-month period.

Rain fell on nine days of June, the heaviest precipitation recorded on June 26 when .48 of an inch was registered.

Recorded rainfall included .10 of an inch on June 2; .01 of an inch June 11; .40 of an inch June 13; .30 of an inch June 17; .10 of an inch June 21; .05 of an inch June 23; .10 of an inch June 24; .48 of an inch June 26 and .10 of an inch June 27.

Rainfall during the first half of the year included 4.33 inches in January; 2.64 inches in February; 2.80 inches in March; 3.34 inches in April; 3.96 inches in May and 1.64 inches in June.

Effects of threatened strike not serious here

If a threatened strike by Teamsters against Central Hardware stores in Missouri should materialize, there will be very little effect on Illinois stores, a spokesman for the company said this morning.

Teamsters Local 682, which represents lumber workers for Central Hardware stores in Missouri, has been working without a contract since May 1 when the former five-year pact expired.

In a weekend newspaper advertisement, Central Hardware announced that if a strike should occur, several Missouri stores would be closed and others would be manned by supervisory personnel.

A spokesman for the Illinois stores, including Granite City, said that different union locals represent the stores here and that a strike in Missouri will have no effect in Illinois.

"There will be no changes in our operations whatsoever," he said. He added that the Illinois stores will not be able to rely on the Central Hardware warehouse in Bridgeton for supplying their needs, but that most items should be obtained by direct shipments from the suppliers.

"There may be some inconveniences in some items, but only if there is a prolonged strike," he predicted.

He added that picket lines are not expected in Illinois, because of the different union locals involved.

The company's weekend announcement noted that the Granite City, Alton and Fairview Heights stores in Illinois are to remain open if there is a strike, as are the Missouri stores at Interstate 270 and Harris Ferry Road, Kirkwood, Alton, St. Charles, South St. Louis County and Town and County.

Mr. Patricia (Perris) Meyers, 29, of 3013 Lewis Ave. in St. Louis, died at St. Mary's Hospital, St. Louis, at 9:30 p.m. Saturday of a bullet wound to the left side of the head.

Madison County Sheriff's deputies said Mrs. Meyers was found with a bullet wound in her head at 8 p.m. Saturday. A .22 caliber rifle was on the bed, deputies said. She was taken to St. Mary's Hospital from where she was transferred to the St. Louis Hospital.

Born in Fort Wayne, Ind., she had lived in Granite City two years.

Mrs. Meyers was a member of the Church of the Latter Day Saints.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Westwood of Madison; a daughter, Michelle, 10, of Granite City; six brothers, Clifford II, Richard and Robert Ferris, all of Granite City; Michael Ferris of Bradenton, Fla.; Larry and David Westwood, both of Madison; five sisters, Mrs. Judith Johnson and Mrs. Dexter (Marie) Surlock, both of Donaldson, Tenn.; Mrs. Larry (Linda) Sands and Miss Martha Ferris, both of Madison; and Mrs. Clarence (Barb) Hand of Granite City.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Funding for extensive new sewage facilities

Rep. Melvin Price (D-33rd Ill.) today reported that $115,000,000 in environmental protection construction work has been identified for Madison and St. Clair Counties.

In releasing a report commissioned by the Associated General Contractors of Illinois and the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, Price noted that federal and state Environmental Protection Agencies will award $87,876,300 in fiscal 1975-76 for designated priority projects to upgrade sewage treatment and other anti-pollution facilities in the two counties.

The funds will provide new sewers, treatment plants and lagoons, and disinfection facilities among other environmental improvements, the Illinois lawmaker said.

St. Clair County will receive $65,673,300 in priority project grants of $7,870,200 in identified work, and Madison County will be awarded $22,204,000 in priority grants out of $37,388,100 in work identified, according to Cong. Price.

"The construction projects will offer many new employment opportunities, while preserving Madison and St. Clair County residents with a healthful environment," Price commented.

Funding in 1975-76 has been assured for a $4,794,400 allocation to Madison County for connection of facilities to regional system or treatment plant, and construction or improvement of interceptor sewers.

Later funding and completion in March 1977 are scheduled for $7,696,000 grant for Madison County for construction or improvement of sewage collection facilities.

Fewer jobless here and in U. S.

Unemployment dropped in June to 6.6 per cent from 9.2 per cent in May, apparently due to a statistical correction in the addition of students and graduates to the work force. Most other measures of the U.S. job market showed little or no change.

The Illinois unemployment rate for June climbed to a seasonally adjusted 8.5 per cent, with a record 437,000 jobless still seeking work, Illinois Employment Security Administrator Christopher W. Nugent reports.

This is the biggest month-to-month increase since the beginning of the year and represents 43,000 more jobless workers than in May.

Nugent explained that the upswing in statewide joblessness has been affected by better data. We think the recall of experienced workers and by students seeking jobs.

Last month I warned that the low May rates were probably due to a quirk," he said. "They are advance estimates. Occasionally they change more than the usual one or two tenths of a point. They did."

The State and Chicago area figures for May were revised upward. They are now more accurate since they are based on better data. We think the June rates reflect more accurate preliminary estimates.

The six-county Chicago area jobless rate increased to 8.7 per cent for June, although factory layoffs showed sharp reductions. Some major manufacturing centers outside of Chicago—notably Decatur, Davenport-Rock Island-Moline and Peoria—experienced significant upturns in unemployment.

"I don't think the recession is yet over for the unemployed," Nugent said.

"Some of the leading economic indicators appear to have leveled off for at least three months, which means that we may have reached bottom. However, unemployment throughout Illinois remains high and may continue high for the rest of the year."

Unemployment in the Illinois section of the St. Louis area decreased two tenths of a point. However, it remains, with Decatur and Rockford, above the ten per cent level.

Decatur's unemployment rate has increased for three consecutive months. Joblessness in June stood at an estimated 10.6 per cent. Partly responsible for that area's new high was the gradual phasing out of a major electrical appliance firm and other layoffs in the manufacturing sector.

Peoria and Moline experienced increases of 0.4 and 0.6 of one per cent in their jobless levels, respectively.

The jobless situation in other labor market areas worsened.

The unemployment rate in Bloomington-Normal jumped by half a point to 4.7 per cent.

In Champaign and Springfield, there was a modest increase in joblessness. The upswing was mainly accounted for by employment declines in educational institutions, as well as recessed for the summer.

Governor's outpost offices are closed

Gov. Dan Walker Thursday announced the closing of all 17 community offices and 73 outposts of the Governor's Action Office.

Gov. Walker said the step was necessary because the legislature failed to approve the GAO's appropriation request. Gov. Walker said the GAO staff of 102 employees and 100 volunteers was being disbanded.

Gov. Walker said: "The offices are closed because unthinking legislators placed political considerations above the welfare of people who need help."

"These people who came to the Governor's Action Office had real problems with unemployment benefits, problems with making out tax returns, problems with eligibility for public aid grants, problems with where to go for help, problems that could not be solved anywhere else. Almost 70,000 people came to these offices for help.

"Approximately 2,500 cases were referred to the GAO by the legislature. Some of these same legislators voted to stop funding the agency that aided their constituents. Now where will these people find help?"

The GAO reported that between July, 1974 and March, 1975 (latest figures available), a total of 43,000 cases were handled by the GAO. This represents an increase of 27,000 cases over the same period last year. The total caseload for 1975 is estimated at 70,000.

Expo authority to organize

An organizational meeting of the Metro-East Exposition and Performing Arts Authority, created by state legislation to construct a civic and convention center, will be held within the next two weeks to initiate preliminary steps in the construction program. State Sen. Sam Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville) announced Friday.

The legislation creating the authority and civic center program in this metropolitan area, and similar programs in Peoria, Rockford and Aurora, was sponsored and successfully guided through the legislature by Senator Vadalabene.

He said organization of the authority of 13 members — six Democrats and six Republicans appointed by Governor Dan Walker — should be undertaken as soon as possible to be ready for action if the bonding plan for financing the centers is given approval in a ruling by the Illinois Supreme Court. Vadalabene said he expects a favorable ruling.

Legislation for the civic center proposal authorized the separate authorities of the four communities to issue bonds totaling $15 million for construction of civic and convention centers in this area and in Rockford and Peoria, and $10 million in Aurora.

The program calls for each performing arts group to issue and sell its own revenue bonds and to administer construction programs in its own respective area. The bonds would be retired with revenue from operation of the centers. Sen. Vadalabene said the bonds would be backed by the state.

To prevent any legal question as to the bonding procedure, a friendly suit was taken to the Supreme Court to determine the constitutionality of the program. Vadalabene said a court ruling in the matter is expected momentarily.

The six Democratic members of the Metro-East authority include Art Griffin, Granite City; Jerry M. Blue, Highland; Bruce Cook, Caseyville; Irving Dillard, Collinsville; William Adrian Jr., Belleville; and Mrs. Mildred L. Sammons, East St. Louis.

Republican members are Mrs. Sybil Belliss, East Alton; Lowell Berger, Lebanon; Preston K. Johnson, Belleville; Nick Maggias, Alton; Mrs. Ruth Scrivner, Belleville, and Leeds Watson, Troy.

Sen. Vadalabene has consistently favored a site for the center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. He said Friday that SIU activities would occupy the center 60 per cent of the time.

He can see selection of an Edwardsville site as a guarantee for payment of the bonds," Vadalabene said.

table varies from 406 feet to 412 feet.

In its recommendations to the council, on which the aldermen are expected to act tonight, the Sverdrup & Parcel report said "that a program of flow monitoring (should) be initiated immediately to locate all sources of infiltration by use of the Manning Dipper Level recorders and simultaneous inspection of manholes for sand and foreign materials."

"It is also recommended," the report added, "that the city of Granite City purchase and operate its own truck-mounted Cues Television Pipe Inspection and Grouting System, at an estimated capital cost of $50,000."

"This system would operate in conjunction with the city-owned hydrocleaner truck and sewer cleaning equipment. Sections of sewers judged as suspect by flow monitoring would be cleaned, if necessary, and televised to determine the condition of the pipe, and could be grouted properly if such action is deemed appropriate."

The report noted that had groundwater conditions at the time of construction of the sanitary sewers been as they have changed to at the present time, a different approach would have been used in design."

Gerald Brown named to GC school post

Gerald Brown, employed in the Granite City school system since 1951, was appointed to the post of administrative assistant-personnel by the Board of Education at a special meeting Wednesday night.

He succeeds the late Raymond T. Jones who died in May.

Brown, who resides at 4590 Delynn Drive, began as a teacher and counselor at South High School in 1951 and later was appointed as assistant at Central Junior High School. He also served as principal of the school during the last year of operation.

He was then assigned as assistant principal at North High School July 1, 1973, where he has continued to serve in that capacity.

Charge 2 youths

Eric Weymouth, 16, of 3004 Edgewood Ave., and a 16-year-old boy were charged with attempted theft after Granite City police alleged seeing them attempt to break into the station wagon of Jerry Robins, 2901 Dale Ave., parked in front of his house last week.

Police said they saw two youths working on a window of the station wagon and as they approached, the youths saw the police car and ran toward the drainage ditch. One policeman chased the youths on foot while the other used the squad car.

It was alleged Weymouth was found hiding in the drainage ditch and he was arrested. An auto parked near the station wagon was checked and was found to belong to the parents of the juvenile boy. He later was taken to the police station by his parents and he was charged.

Police reported a wing vent of Robins' auto was forced open and the gears controlling it had been stripped. There was a stereo inside the car, but entry had not been gained.

Car demolishes storage shed

A storage shed at the mobile home of Sidney Soncek, Lot 294 of the Village Green Mobile Home Park, 3001 Lake Drive, Ponson Beach, was demolished in a fresh accident when it was struck by the auto of Charles Kramer, Lot 321 of Village Green, Wednesday.

Sonecek was charged with reckless driving. He told police he stopped at his mailbox on the corner and thought he put his car in park. Instead, it was in reverse and his foot struck the accelerator, causing the car to move rapidly backwards, drive over a high curb and demolish the storage shed before coming to a halt.

Russia 'nice place to visit' but not place to live, Rotarians told

It's a nice place to visit, "but I would not like to live there" was the impression of Russia Miss Nancy Sanders gave last week's meeting of the Granite City Rotary Club in the YMCA.

Nancy, who graduated in June from Granite City High School South, visited the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics during the school's Spring break March 21 through 29 with 15 other students under the leadership of Miss Shari Schuman, both Social Studies teachers.

"We all had the feeling we were being watched all the time," she said. "We were kept on a very strict schedule and not allowed to go anywhere unless it was on the schedule."

"The Russian people were very quiet and stuck to themselves. They would ask us questions about the United States, but did not want to answer our questions about the Soviet Union."

"We took the bus to Chicago, flew from there to New York and then flew to Helsinki, Finland, where we went by train into Leningrad."

"I found Leningrad to be a very old-looking city and they were just finishing reconstructing part of the damage done in World War II," she related.

"I visited places like the former winter palace of the Czar, now a museum, the Peter and Paul Fortress, and a prison used by Alexander II for political prisoners, and the tombs of the Czars."

"We were scheduled to go by railroad from Leningrad to Moscow; but the Russian government changed our schedule and we flew into Moscow. We all were of the opinion that the government did not want us to see much of the country."

"Moscow is a much more modern city, but there really are very few autos and most of the cars you see are taxis. The hotel was plush, but you would look out the window and see the slum areas."

File more charges in SIUE theft case

Additional charges have been filed against two East St. Louis men who were arrested last week by security officers at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Leon Johnson, 50, and Rubin Dansberry, 22, are accused of burglarizing a second Dodge van parked on a campus lot. The owner of the van, Michael G. Meinardi of Gillespie, reported a sleeping bag, luggage and other items missing from the vehicle.

Johnson and Dansberry were arrested after security officers said they observed the men breaking into a Dodge van owned by Stephen Bast of Cottage Hills.

In a high-speed chase on South University Drive, the East St. Louis men allegedly tossed numerous items from their car, including fishing gear and other items from the Bast van and luggage from the Meinardi van.

New programs to improve nation's safety, health

Two new programs may greatly improve the nation's job safety and health efforts, a top Labor Department official reports.

The two programs—advisory inspections and employer self-inspection—will lead to a more comprehensive national job safety and health program, said Assistant Secretary of Labor John H. Stender, who heads the Department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA).

Speaking before the Industrial Safety Equipment Association in Hot Springs, Va., Stender said that early criticism of OSHA's programs centered on the fact that, unlike many pre-existing state programs, OSHA did not have any provisions for inspection without citation.

"Let me say this was not OSHA's decision," Stender explained. "The law was clear. When an OSHA inspector discovered a job safety or health violation, it was his responsibility to cite it."

He noted that the logic of this was sound, because otherwise employers would wait for an inspector to arrive before making needed improvements. But experience under OSHA has shown there is nonetheless, a distinct need for advisory inspections, especially to help small employers come into compliance with job safety and health standards.

Stender said that's why OSHA recently issued new rules under which advisory inspections at the request of employers, will half the needed funds provided by OSHA. Most states with OSHA-approved plans already offer such services, he noted.

"While this program partially fills the gap, another program under study will do the rest," Stender said.

"Under the law, OSHA has the power to require employers to conduct self-inspections. This is a proposal we plan to make in the near future," he added.

He went on to explain that, while details are not yet firm, he expects that OSHA will prepare and issue checklists and other aids to help employers in their self-inspection programs.

He said that self-inspection programs not only can help employers improve job safety and health conditions in their workplaces, "they also improve employee morale, contribute to productivity, reduce on-the-job injuries, lower insurance costs, and provide many other benefits that more than pay for the time, effort and cost involved."

OSHA, in its first four years, has done much to build a strong national job safety and health program, Stender said. But continued effort and leadership will be needed to see the job through, he added.

"I am certain that by working together—labor, management and government—we can, by making America's workplaces truly safe and healthful, build a lasting monument to the concern of men for other men," he concluded.

If you've been using your air conditioning since May, you should now be changing the disposable filter for the second time.

Replacing air filters regularly during the air conditioning season is strongly recommended by experts. As filters become clogged with dirt and dust, they cut down circulation. Your air conditioning system has to work harder and harder to meet your demands.

The result is air conditioning bills higher than necessary—and a needless waste of electric energy.

With a clean filter you'll save money, prolong the life of your air conditioner—and conserve electricity.

If you'd like detailed information on ways to save when buying or using an air conditioner, just ask at our office. Providing energy is our business. Using it wisely is everybody's business.

MR. AND MRS. BOB VANWINKLE, whose wedding took place at the Briarcliff Pentecostal Church. The bride is the former Miss Judy Yvonne Stenitzer, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Stenitzer, 4905 Willow Lane.

Judy Stenitzer married in candlelight ceremony

The Rev. Harold Maynard performed a double ring ceremony on June 27 at the Briarcliff Pentecostal Church, uniting in marriage Miss Judy Yvonne Stenitzer and Bob L. VanWinkle.

Branched candelabra holding burning pink tapers illuminated the aisle and sanctuary for the 7:30 evening service. Enoch Maynard presided at the organ and also sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "We've Only Just Begun."

Parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Stenitzer, reside at 4905 Willow Lane. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver VanWinkle, 108 Goulding St., East Alton.

For her wedding, the bride selected a floor-length gown of white silk organza designed with an empire bodice and long, full sleeves appliqued with lace motifs.

Her mantilla veil of tulle was bordered in lace and held in place with an organza bow. She carried a bouquet made up of clusters of white, blue and pink carnations intermingled with baby's breath and festooned with pink streamers.

The maid of honor was Miss Terri Jones and the bridesmaids were Misses Sue and Barbara VanWinkle, sisters of the groom, and Miss Lois Sykes of Huntville, Okla., and Miss Donna Parlier of Blue Springs, Mo., cousins of the bride.

All were gowned alike in blue. Their dresses were created with molded bodices enhanced with white lace trimming at the high neckline and yoke and encircling a ruffled lounce at the hem of the long gathered skirts.

Each girl wore a blue bow in her hair, attached to melody motifs.

Victory team wins men's softball championship

Home runs by Gene Hodson and John Peckham highlighted Victory Tavern's 22-5 win over Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1300 yesterday in the championship game of the Granite City District's annual Fourth of July men's softball tournament at Worthen Park.

Tim Wallace took the win on the mound and Bob Stephens was the losing pitcher. Post 1300 also garnered two homers, one each by Jerry Duncan and Mark Cooke.

The contest was deadlocked at 2-2 after the first inning and the tie was snapped by a single run in the second by Victory.

The victors broke the contest open with nine runs in the third, six in the fourth and four in the fifth. Post 1300 tallied three in the fourth and two in the seventh.

The tournament champion swept to victory in the championship bracket, having drawn a first-round bye and then won 18-6 Sunday over Dale Campbell Agency, 22-12 Thursday over Tri-City Transportation, and 7-3 Saturday over Granite City Realty and 18-5 Saturday over L&W Movers in a semifinal contest.

Post 1300 started the tourney with a 12-4 win over McDonald's on June 28, and won 14-2 over Mac's Grill June 29 before falling into the losers' bracket upon being defeated 9-6 by Granite City Realty Thursday.

In working its way back into contention through the losers' bracket, Post 1300 beat Croatian Home 7-5 Friday and downed Buzz's Tavern 7-5 Saturday.

VFW beat Sammy's 7-6, Granite City Realty 7-5 and L&W Movers 20-2, all on Sunday, to qualify to meet Victory Tavern in the title clash.

Other Thursday results were Buzz's Tavern 15-14 over Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307 and Dale Campbell Agency 14-4 over the Eagles.

Friday's competition included L&W Movers 12-7 over Madonna Sporting Goods, Buzz's 16-15 over Tri-City Transportation and Sammy's 14-9 over Polish Hall.

Other Saturday scores were Midtown Pharmacy 14-13 over Polish Hall and Campbell 11-7 over Madonna.

Yesterday's contests included Campbell 15-2 over Midtown and Granite City Realty 11-8 over the Campbell squad.

All but 3 teams eliminated in women's holiday tourney

After nearly a week of competition, a champion team has yet to be decided in the Granite City District's annual Fourth of July women's double-elimination slow-pitch tournament.

Two contests yesterday were postponed due to wet playing conditions after heavy rain soaked Wilson Park Saturday night.

Defending champion Petrolino Produce is assured of at least runner-up honors after winning every contest in which it played in the championship bracket.

Petrolino will meet the winner of a 6:15 p.m. contest tomorrow between Mercer and the Caseyville Comanches in a championship game at Wilson Park at 6:15 p.m. Wednesday.

In earning the right to defend its title, Petrolino blanked St. Mary's 15-0 in the opening round in July 1, defeated the Comanches 10-5 on Thursday, beat the Basecasters 5-1 Saturday and handed Mercer its first loss, 4-3, on Saturday in a semifinal championship bracket contest.

The Comanches worked their way into the losers' bracket semifinal contest against Mercer with a 13-4 win Saturday over Bill's Auto Body, a victory Saturday over Waterloo, a 19-1 win Sunday over Ebbie's Confectionery and a 4-1 win Saturday over Kentucky Fried Chicken yesterday.

In other contests played Thursday: Mercer won 10-3 over Clean Cart, Ebbie's Confectionery 17-4 over O'Brien Tire and Basecasters 15-2 over G&G Car Wash.

On Friday, O'Brien won 20-7 over Lacey's 20-7, Kentucky Fried Chicken 17-2 over St. Mary's, Bill's Auto Body, by forfeit from King-Hofman Realty and Waterloo 16-1 over the Jets.

Saturday, Waterloo defeated G&G Car Wash 9-6, yesterday. Mercer beat O'Brien 16-2 and Kentucky topped the Basecasters 4-3.

Food poisoning can be avoided

By MARION WELLS

Food safety starts in the shopping cart. Help safeguard perishables by shopping for them last — just before going to the checkout counter. If possible, make the supermarket your final stop before home, and refrigerate spoilable foods promptly when you arrive.

Food safety experts have issued a number of guidelines to help consumers avoid food poisoning. Even certain foods that come in cans or boxes may require refrigeration before they are opened.

Improper food storage may mean you're "in store" for trouble. In your freezer, notes an article in the "FDA Consumer," "frost buildup of one-fourth inch or more actually serves as insulation against keeping foods frozen solid." Do you have good refrigerator and freezer thermometers to help you keep tabs on the temperature? Be sure motors and seals of refrigerators stay tight and lint free and insulation is kept in good repair.

How about food handling right in your own kitchen? Authorities warn that "a working area used for cutting raw meat or poultry is an ideal place for bacteria to lodge and multiply. If the cutting board or knife isn't cleaned well before use, the bacteria can contaminate any food — including the cooked food — that comes in contact with it and cause food poisoning." The same applies to your hands.

What about thawing? Whenever you can, plan to defrost frozen foods, poultry and meat in your refrigerator.

To help keep bacteria or other foreign matter out of food, wash eggs right before cracking the shell and wash with soap and water before opening. Wear gloves when preparing food if you have cuts or sores on your hands.

Are there pits in your home? If you handle them, wash your hands before you eat a single food item, but bacteria which can cause food poisoning.

If you're fixing foods more than a day or two ahead, it's safest to freeze rather than refrigerate them. When chilling hot foods, separate into small enough portions or shallow enough dishes to permit rapid chilling all the way through.

A word of warning about such spoilables as gravy and broth, custard and cream filled desserts. Avoid leaving a stock pot sitting around on your stove. Freeze gravy you plan on keeping more than a day or two ahead. If you're reheating gravy, experts recommend that you "...reheat and boil for several minutes before serving. Always serve hot."

Keep cream and custard fillings and puddings thoroughly chilled until just before dessert time. If serving pastry, why not fill it with cooled or frozen filling in the table.

To avoid deadly botulism or other poisoning, if you plan to do any home canning, first consult a reputable home canning guide.

A final word of caution. If you have any doubt about a particular food item, don't eat or even taste it, and take the necessary steps to warn others.

Belleville Legion tops Tri-City twice

Tri-City American Legion Post 113 dropped both ends of a doubleheader Thursday at Belleville, losing 6-1 and 5-4.

Post 113 had a 6-1 lead after five innings in the first game, but the hosts rallied with four runs in the sixth and three more in the seventh for the win.

Paul Muehl walked and scored on a hit by John Pritchard in the first inning, and Keith Champion doubled and Edson Ward singled in the second for a 2-0 Tri-City lead.

Post 113 scored four runs in the fifth. Tom Henrich singled, Muehl walked and Pritchard and Dave Dornbeck walked to load the bases.

In the sixth, Jeff Scarborough scored all three runners and a double by Keith Champion provided the fourth run.

Kirk Champion took the loss on the mound. He relieved starter Randy Loyola after five innings.

Belleville's second victory was highlighted by a three-run homer by Barry Frazier in the fifth inning. Tony Stajdhar hit the decisive home run.

Dornbeck, Mark Greenwald, Keith Champion and Stajdhar collected hits for Post 113.

A scheduled District 22 Legion contest between Post 113 and Venice-Madison Post 307 was postponed due to a wet diamond and will be played today at six o'clock at Ler Park.

On Wednesday, Post 113 will host Cahokia for a 6 p.m. contest at Wilson Park.

Youth's suitcase, cash stolen

James Raines, 17, Lincoln, Neb., said he was forced into a car in St. Louis and was pushed from the car at the edge of Horseshoe Lake near 84 Lumber Co. about 10 p.m. Friday. The assailant took his suitcase which contained about $50 and his clothing, he reported.

Raines said he was waiting for a bus at the Greyhound Depot in St. Louis when a young man approached him and offered him a ride. He said he refused the ride and the young man forced him into the auto.

He said he drove around for some time before going to the edge of the lake where driver suggested objectionable activities. Raines said when he refused, the driver slapped him, pushed him out of the car and drove away with his suitcase in the auto.

What's unlisted security?

By JUDITH G. RHOADES

Q. What is an unlisted security? — E. B., Glendale, Calif.

A. An unlisted security is a security that is not traded on an organized exchange, such as the New York Stock Exchange or American Stock Exchange. There are some where between 30,000 and 35,000 stocks alone that are not listed on any exchange. These securities are traded in an Over-the-Counter market. Unlisted securities are bought and sold, however, with similar protections as a listed security.

Q. What is an OTC Market? — G. F., San Diego, Calif.

A. OTC stands for over-the-counter. This market is not a place, area or building. The OTC market has no centrally located market place. It is thousands of securities houses (called broker-dealers) located around the country. The accepted method of doing business is to buy and sell stocks and bonds among the broker dealers, whichever one they trade with, at a mutually agreed price. In contrast to an organized exchange, trading is basically done through an auction system.

Laugh of the Week: Given to me by its author from his "FINANSHUL DICKSHUN-ARY." Average: "If I have a fellow has one foot on a hot stove, and the other in a bucket of ice water; eventually on the 'average,' he's comfortable." — Al Gasser

Members of the 1925 January and June graduating classes at Granite City High School gathered in the Officers' Club at the Granite City Army Installation for their 50th-year class reunion.

Two former members of the GCHS faculty, Miss Mary Blackburn of Ferguson, Mo., and Miss Mary Luther of St.

Louis, were honored guests. Reunion organizers noted that members of the June class of 1925 were the first freshmen to enter the Granite City Community High School in 1921 and the first class to complete four years of high school training in the new building.

Among the 14 graduates in the 1925 January class two are deceased. The June class, totaling 57 graduates, has 12 deceased members. To mark the golden jubilee year celebration, the table appointments and room decorations were in the traditional gold. Miniature graduation caps and program booklets were created in gold and white, and favors for each guest were tiny diplomas tied with ribbons to champagne glasses. Byron Fossieck of Manchester, Mo., served as master of ceremonies and presented personal gifts of blue carnations festooned with silver ribbons to each lady attending. Blue and silver were the 1925 class colors. Mrs. Daniel (Irene DaMotte)

Schoes of Overland, Mo., gave the welcoming address and Royal Barney of Granite City offered the invocation. Cocktails were served during a social hour preceding the 7 o'clock buffet dinner.

As part of the program, Mrs. Raymond (Vera Berger) Scott of Granite City furnished music for songs written in 1925 which were used in a sing-a-long segment.

The gala evening also featured magic tricks by John Koser of Edwardsville and a vocal number by Mrs. James (Gayle Isbell) Burns of St. Louis. Other members of the class attending included Dr. William Biel, assistant academic vice-president of the University of Southern California, Santa Monica, Calif.; Mrs. (Dorothy McCalla) Avett, Santa Cruz, Calif.; Mrs. Hobart (Naomi Sherley) Hansen, San Diego, Calif.; Mrs. B. (Kathryn Reintges) Brien, Ypsilanti, Mich.; Tally Richards, Niles, Mich.; Stuart Frizzell, Mattoon, Ill.; Mrs. Cecil (Maurine Robinson) Richardson, Western Springs, Ill.; Philip Mueller, Overland, Mo.

Nuptial selections were sung by Mrs. Duane Barrette of Eldon, Mo., with Mrs. Bill Watkins at the organ. Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of opaque nylon, appliqued with Chantilly lace. The empire bodice of lace was made with a pearl design and log of mutton styled sleeves. ## Some taxpayers without bills

Granite City taxpayers who have not received a 1974 tax bill, payment of which is now due, may obtain a bill only by applying to the office of County Treasurer George Musso at Edwardsville, it was reported today.

Because of a substantial number of erroneous addresses carried over from errors in the county's computer system, a sizeable number of bills have been returned by the post office to the collectors' office from which they originally were mailed.

Township collectors in Granite City, Nameoki, Venice and Chouteau Townships who are making local collections this year, will retain the tax bills only through Aug. 1, giving taxpayers only one month in which to make first installment payments before the first one per cent penalty is assessed on unpaid bills.

The tax bills will be returned Aug. 2 to the county treasurer's office where taxpayers will pay their bills after that date.

Granite City Treasurer Paul Rutledge said yesterday that he has had a number of inquiries from taxpayers who said they had not received a tax bill and who asked Rutledge to provide a duplicate.

Rutledge said his office cannot do so. He explained that tax bills received from the county treasurer for mailing last week were already in envelopes and sealed, and that local collectors do not have the authority to open those bills, even though they are aware that the addressing might be in error.

A spokesman at the county treasurer's office said yesterday that a taxpayer who does not receive a bill, due to bad addresses or any other reason, may obtain a bill at the treasurer's office in the courthouse at Edwardsville. Rutledge said his office has no means of providing duplicate bills since the computer information on billing is at the courthouse. Late completion of assessment books and, consequently, late extension of tax rates and preparation of tax bills have thrown the county's tax collection program nearly two months behind that of last year.

As a result, taxpayers have only 30 days in which to pay the first installment of their real estate tax bills without penalty, whereas in the past taxpayers have had from early June to Sept. 1 to make first installment payments.

other groups are cooperating in attaining standards set by the American Blood Commission, McDonough said.

In reviewing the past year, Hildebrand noted the office move to 201 Edison Ave., reducing overhead costs and achieving closer proximity to the United Way office.

During 1974-75, Mrs. Mildred Meehan succeeded Mrs. Ruby Overbeck as executive secretary due to the latter's retirement. Mrs. Dorothy Smith was named office secretary.

Key laymen included Mrs. Maxine Duniphan as chairman of first-aid training, Mike Jessee as water safety chairman and Mrs. Ruby Winters as head of the volunteer and blood programs.

Entertainment was provided by a featured musical group

Among those present were S. T. Nasir and George Knecht of the United Way and Community Services staff; Roy Lynn of Protestant Welfare; Otto Kreber and Charles Parkinson of Catholic Charities; Harold Rudolph of the YMCA; Dr. David Friedman, sponsor of a water safety program for the physically handicapped; and Victor Koenig of the Granite City Civil Defense program.

Mrs. Fanny Epstein, Charles Reimers and Henry D. Karandjeff were recognized for longtime service to the Red Cross.

EPA advisory council may be established

The director of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, Dr. Richard H. Briceland, has initiated a series of meetings that may lead to the establishment of an advisory council to the state pollution-control agency.

Briceland said he and members of his staff are meeting throughout the state with industrialists, environmentalists and municipal officials.

When he was named director of the Illinois EPA in January, 1974, Briceland began a series of public meetings, called "Project Listen," through which he visited Illinois communities to confront first-hand environmental issues of local and regional concern.

"These meetings have been very helpful to me," Briceland said, "and we are continuing them. What I want to do here is to expand on them; to have informal meetings with community leaders — business people, elected officials and environmentalists — to solicit their advice to help us clean up pollution in Illinois."

Briceland said an advisory council may result from these meetings: "A council could provide an excellent way for our agency to get advice from our most interested constituents. 'But,' the Illinois EPA head continued, "it is not the only alternative we are considering. These small meetings may themselves be the best setting for getting the straight talk we need to do our job."

Briceland said the Illinois EPA must do more to involve citizens in the formulation and implementation of its policies and procedures.

"We need to be more aggressive in soliciting advice from people around this state who have an interest in controlling pollution. That means everybody, of course, but the business of pollution control falls especially to municipalities, industries, and business. Those people need to communicate freely and openly with us on the issues that affect them."

"Whatever the vehicle we use to improve this communication," Briceland concluded, "our mission remains the same: To see to it that our citizens enjoy a clean, beautiful environment in their own communities and throughout Illinois."

Speech students attend workshop

Eight local high school students returned Saturday from a high school summer workshop in communications at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

Attending the public speaking workshop from North were Mike Taylor, John Kastele and Curt McCann. South students attending were Nancy Weil, Brian Konzen, Larry Wyatt and Patrick House.

Dawn Larsen, a North student, attended an interpretation and theater workshop.

Dr. Goni Michaeloff of the North faculty said, "Interested advance speech students who wish to continue their speech training at a university summer workshop gain much available experience in these programs."

"The students receive intense individual speech instruction while benefiting from friendship and competition with other high school students throughout the country."

"I am proud that the advanced speech students earned their own way to the summer workshops. I am particularly pleased and grateful that so many parents of our advance speech students have helped us so much to advance our projects and programs."

Tax relief help for seniors

A qualified person will be in the Retired Senior Volunteer Program office in the Tri-Cities Area YMCA from 1 to 4 p.m. Friday to assist senior citizens in filing tax relief claims.

Persons 60 years old or older, who are residents of Illinois with under $10,000 per year income, may be eligible to qualify under the new Illinois Sales Tax Relief Bill. The sales tax and property tax relief measures are designed to assist aging persons with limited income.

The property tax relief is for persons who were 65 or older before Jan. 1, 1975 or for disabled persons. Known as the Circuit Breaker bill, it is not necessary to be a property owner; some renters also may be eligible, officials said.

Aid in filing claims also will be available at the local RSVP office from 1 to 4 p.m. Friday, July 25.

Pamphlets given at Walgreen's

The comprehensive pamphlet, "How To Save Money On Prescriptions," will be available, free of charge, at the Granite City Walgreen Drug Store, 3801 Nameoki Rd., in the Crossroads-Plaza Shopping Center, beginning today while the supply lasts.

The pamphlet sets forth effective steps consumers can take to reduce their prescription expenses, according to Store Manager Don Maguire, R.Ph.

For example, he said, the first step is to find out exactly what your prescription is: drug, brand, strength, and quantity. Call several pharmacies to see if they will quote prescription prices over the phone.

Then ask their price on your prescription. Finally, compare prices, and take the prescription where the price is the lowest.

Two charged after chase

Ricky L. Douthett, 31, and William K. Tucker, 18, both of Collinsville, were held in Madison County jail Friday, charged with the theft of a motorcycle at 1:45 a.m. Tuesday.

Madison police were informed that a motorcycle was being loaded into a pickup truck in the area of 1800 Third St., Madison.

Approaching the area, Madison police saw the truck at South Main and McVair Avenue. Police took the license number, turned on the red lights and radioed for assistance.

The truck went behind Caine Steel through the north parking lot over the railroad tracks and then hit a slag pile behind the steel company.

The occupants then got out of the truck and ran. A Madison police officer ordered them to halt and fired a warning shot when they did not comply.

Police said Tucker stopped, but Douthett continued running. He later was found hiding in a patch of weeds about one-quarter mile from the tracks near the steel company.

Both men were taken into custody and turned over to the Madison County Sheriff's department.

Assisting Madison police were officers from Venice, Granite City and the Madison County Sheriff's department.

Illinois benefits in antitrust settlement

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott announced last week that Illinois will receive approximately $400,000 as its share of a partial settlement of an antitrust suit against manufacturers of master key and lock systems.

The money will go to state universities, school districts, housing authorities, and other Illinois public agencies, Scott said.

The $400,000 is part of a $7,500,000 settlement, subject to court approval, reached with Rihart Corporation, Berlin, Conn., one of four defendants in a treble damage action instituted in July of 1972.

The suit is against the principal manufacturers of master key systems used in schools, hospitals, and other public buildings. The manufacturers add to contractors who constructed the buildings for the public agencies.

The other three defendants are Eaton, Yale & Towne, Inc., Cleveland, Ohio; Sargent & Company, New Haven, Conn.; and Ileo Corporation, Worcester, Mass.

Scott said litigation will proceed against the remaining defendants with the possibility of a jury trial commencing in the fall in Hartford, Conn. where several related cases have been consolidated.

"Illinois had led the fight to gain recognition of the right of public agencies making indirect purchases to sue for treble damages, in price-fixing conspiracies," Scott said. "The settlement is another step forward in our antitrust battle to protect taxpayers and consumers."

The settlement was negotiated on behalf of the 30 states, their political subdivisions, and private builders by Scott's Special Assistant Attorney General Lee J. Friedman Jr. Friedman also was appointed to represent the states of Indiana, Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia.

If the court approves the $7,500,000 settlement, $8,000,000 will go to public agencies in the 30 states and $1,500,000 to private builders.

Gateway task force ruling a 'surprise'

Failure of the environmental task force of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council to endorse a $130,000 cleanup project and water main installations at the Tri-City Regional Port came as a "shocking surprise," Carl Ranft, port manager, said today.

This was particularly true, he said, because the port authority had not been asked to furnish any information about the project and was not made aware that the matter was scheduled for consideration last week.

The task force, meeting in St. Louis, ruled against the program on grounds that there was no adequate environmental assessment of the project's impact on air and water quality, along with other environmental considerations.

"I believe this is just a misunderstanding of the facts and I plan to contact members of the task force to explain that our purpose is not to create an industrial park, as such, but merely to clean up part of the Port District's present land area to be used as backstop land for use in the event of future port expansions," Ranft said.

In its rejection of the Port District plan, the task force assessed that of the project referred to the program as an industrial park development which, Ranft explained, is not true.

"Under the law governing the Port District operation, we cannot build or operate any type of manufacturing industry," Ranft said.

The task force recommendation to reject the project is subject to action by the Gateway Council board of directors when they meet July 30.

Ranft noted the $120,000 of the total cost already has been granted to the Port District by the federal Economic Development Administration and that the project has been endorsed by the Illinois Department of Business and Economic Affairs, the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs, the city of Granite City and Madison County.

The approximate 127 acres of land involved in the project includes an area that once was used as an open dump for trash and debris.

"We plan to level this old dumping area and cover it with fill not only to eliminate the unsightly aspects, but to provide an area onto which port activities could be expanded," Ranft said. The proposed water main installation would provide water service for existing and future port installations and for fire protection.

"It was unaware that the task force was to act on the project last week," Ranft added, noting that "We (the Port Authority) were not requested to supply any form of an impact statement or 'surprise' information of data pertinent to such a discussion."

Food stamps for fourth of population?

Congress created food stamps to help the poor, but the program is now an integral part of the nation's social safety net, declares Rep. Robert H. Michel of Peoria.

The 1st Illinois Republican in House minority whip, successor to the veteran Les Areeda, also an Illinoisan.

As whip, Michel is the second ranking Republican in the House.

Michel fears food stamps are running amok. Cost to taxpayers since 1965 has increased 14,000 per cent. Yes, 14,000 per cent, and it threatens to go higher.

Michel came off the House floor to elaborate in an interview on a bill he introduced to reform the program. Life and Sen. James Buckley, New York, cosponsors a bill that would limit the amount of food stamps a family can receive.

They believe, in essence, that their reforms will expand benefits to the truly poor while curbing the program of the non-needy at a $2 billion to $2.5 billion saving to taxpayers.

"Costs are spiraling out of sight," Michel said in the speaker's lobby. "We've got to change the climate or go to the poorhouse."

Asked for an example of food stamp padding in Illinois, Michel said most recipients in college and university towns frequently are students. They can qualify because they are "occasionally unemployed."

"That's their excuse," says Michel, rejecting this category. Michel was the author of a bill to deny food stamps to students who have had second thoughts.

"I don't feel so strongly about that," he volunteers. "I don't want to see that as a union lightning rod because we've got to get labor's support on this reform bill."

Michel suggests that the Department of Agriculture's food stamp formula is laywre, computing as it does on net rather than gross income. He believes this allows the program to be an inadequate diet for the poor, clearly an end Congress never intended, not to mention giving entry to the more affluent.

"I would like to see us use the gross poverty indices as the benchmark," he continued. "This is about $2,000 a year for a family of four. Do that and you could save by screening at the top."

Michel pointed out that by calculating on net instead of gross income, "you deduct all (visible) taxes, retirement benefits, union dues, transportation to and from work, utilities, private schooling and housing costs."

Add to that the policy that 30 per cent of net income is generally figured for housing and it is clear how middle-income families can presently qualify for food stamps.

"People in the $18,000 to $20,000 bracket can qualify for food stamps," said Michel, asserting, "That's wrong."

When the poor are shown with food stamps — at the bottom of the four federal established nutrition levels — economy, low-income, medium and liberal diet.

He estimated most American families are bracketed between two and three, the low-income and medium diets.

Michel said 21.8 million Americans are getting food stamps and that, under present standards, a total of 37 million are eligible to get them if they wish to apply.

"That's one out of four persons in the country," he emphasizes.

Big step toward ending areas that lack fire protection

Regardless of whose "fault" it is, one of the most saddening and frustrating of all sights is to see a fire spread and go out of control while firefighters either stay away or stand idle. Both legislative houses have adopted a bill by State Representative Everett Steele that seeks to eliminate territories totally without fire protection and avoid such tragedies.

Receiving overwhelming backing in the House and Senate, the bill would empower the state fire marshal to negotiate arrangements for fire service in unincorporated areas now without it, when requested by five unprotected citizens.

If voluntary efforts prove unsuccessful, the marshal could assign an area to a nearby fire district and make sure that the district is reimbursed for the resulting added expense, a $250 fee is listed, increasing by $50 each year and applicable to property less if necessary.

The legislation also provides for a referendum in which residents could vote to tax themselves to pay for firefighting, and contract with a neighboring district if their own area is too small to support a separate fire service system.

Rep. Steele cites the value of assuring education, police service and firefighting to all persons. He notes that, of these, only fire protection has never been guaranteed to everyone in Illinois.

In the Senate, where the bill passed 51-0, Sen. Sam Vadalabene urged approval "to prevent loss of life and damage to property."

Revised after initial drafts created fear of some potential problems, the current legislation appears sound.

It is a subject in which ground rules fair to all have been hard to devise, and this has been a major reason for the lack of past remedial laws. Now that so much progress has been made toward a solution, Governor Walker undoubtedly will wish to sign the bill into law.

Field stations could monitor river's impact on wildlife

Alton Telegraph — If environmentalist and railroad opposition to building of the new Lock and Dam No. 26 has done nothing else, it at least has forced into official form an awareness of the need for surveying more closely the effect of increasing barge traffic and river level control over wildlife.

A massive study sponsored by the Corps of Engineers on federal court orders has developed up some expert warnings about what could happen to natural as well as civilian life along the rivers if barge traffic is permitted to grow without policing and regulation of any kind.

Zoologist Charles J. Newling, who wrote part of the report, in addition to warning of dangers such as dredge spoil disposal, noise and air pollution, modified these warnings somewhat by a series of monitoring field stations.

He suggests these might easily employ facilities and personnel provided by many colleges and universities within reach of upper Mississippi and Illinois rivers.

A system such as this, we would think, could be an argument in favor of further developing river traffic to some extent.

Or it may dictate that the government establish such a monitoring system even before any further traffic development is provided for.

This development, of course, could be financed by a broad new source of services to be financed by the government — and perhaps increases the need for barges to meet part of the cost through lockage tolls and at least fuel taxes.

Illinoisans want Congress to curb snooping into citizens' lives

By LESTER BELL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

Illinois congressmen deplore snooping by the Internal Revenue Service into the private affairs of citizens, as revealed in a House inquiry. And they believe the revelations will make Congress more aware of its oversight duty.

In interviews, they agreed that Congress has failed to keep a sharp watch on the federal bureaucracy, which they say is becoming high-handed and arrogant in the absence of Congressional vigilance.

The IRS inquiry is being conducted by a House subcommittee headed by Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal, New York Democrat.

Members are questioning IRS officials about news reports of IRS snooping into the sexual and drinking activities of private citizens in Florida and the keeping of computerized files on selected taxpayers.

The inquiry reached such an acrimonious level that Rosenthal all but threatened IRS Commissioner Donald Alexander with subpoenas to document "Operation Lepercham," the code name for the alleged Florida snooping, and Alexander's deputy, Warren Bates, with contempt of Congress.

The Illinois congressmen say they, like everyone else, are getting their information chiefly from news accounts and do not like what they are reading about IRS.

"The fact that we did not exercise proper oversight in earlier years is an issue that is coming home to roost," McClory declared.

House Minority Whip Robert Michel, of Peoria, said over-apart by internal Democratic strife.

"That," he said, referring to the IRS inquiry, "is precisely one of the subjects for a select committee to look into."

He noted that Rep. Bella Abzug, New York Democrat, is chairing an investigation into "alleged CIA deficiencies under the Freedom of Information Act."

"These are all subject matters properly belonging to a select committee. This proliferation of investigations indicates a further breakdown in the Democratic leadership."

He called it "overkill" and an evidence of a failed capacity to function.

Costumed attendants at state's historic monuments

By JOAN MURARO
SPRINGFIELD — Visitors to the various Illinois historic monuments will soon be seeing a more authentic representation.

Depending on the site, the starting dates will vary, but the Department of Conservation is aiming at completion of the outfitting of about 75 monuments in varied, authentic costumes appropriate to the site where they work, by this fall.

"We'd like to be able to start into 1976 with the changes already made," said Charles Tammings, assistant department director for land and historic sites.

The outfits will run from $80 to $80 each, said Tammings — about the same amount the department currently pays for the conventional state uniforms which it also provides.

The majority of the historic sites will begin the change-over to costumed attendants in July. Initial research has been completed and between professional costume houses and private seamstresses, most needs have been met.

Tammings said, except for such "finishing touches" as appropriate shoes, and authentic eyeglasses.

A firm in Massachusetts has been found which is making four-cycle piston engine costumes in the period, and the department has been finding actual old eyeglass frames in antique shops. In most cases, he said, the employees, furnished with the authentic frames, have been taking them in and having a second pair of glasses made to wear to work.

One program in the same area has already been inaugurated at Lincoln's New Salem State Park, where the 33 employees (the entire roster working there, in any capacity) were offered the chance to maintain individual gardens at some spot in the reconstructed village. In return for the site, and whatever it yields, the employees would agree to change into period costumes on a rotating schedule each day, and work the gardens using only authentic hand tools of the period when Abraham Lincoln lived there.

Only one of the 33 employees has indicated an unwillingness to participate, Tammings said. The remainder are asked to provide written plans for their gardens to be sure they are not planning to grow anything which would not have been found in a New Salem garden originally.

The participating employees will be given training to equip them to answer questions asked by visitors about the flowers, spices, herbs or vegetables they are growing, the tools they are using and methods of gardening in the period.

Costuming of personnel will be carried out at the Pierre Menard home, where the costumes will be of well-to-do French immigrants; all historic courthouses under the department's jurisdiction; Bishop Hill (a Scandinavian community now being restored); Lincoln Log Cabin State Park; and Lincoln's tomb, as well as New Salem.

At Lincoln's tomb, Tammings said, the women will wear mourning dresses suitable to 1865, and the final decision has yet to be made on costuming the men, but they probably will wear Union military uniforms of the same period.

In a different, but somewhat related project, a group of students under the direction of Prof. Nelson Reed of St. Louis University will reconstruct life as it has been reconstructed to have been lived among the early dwellers at Cahokia Mounds.

Predicting the future for your automobile

By RICHARD CRABB

CHICAGO — There is almost certainly the piston driven internal combustion engine in your car's future.

If the future is defined as the next five years, the "almost certainly" can be deleted; if the definition is 10 years, the answer is probably the same.

The piston or reciprocating engine, that has changed human life-style more completely in less time than any other single development, came to the forefront in Chicago on Thanksgiving Day in 1895.

It was the first competition between self-propelled road vehicles on the North American continent.

The race in heavy snow was over a 35-mile course that extended from Jackson Park in Chicago to Evanston and back.

There were electric-powered, steam-driven, and cars with internal combustion motors in that race.

Only two vehicles finished the race and both were powered by the internal combustion motor.

Little has changed in the 80 years since. Today there are experimental electric and steam cars, plus a number of other power plants such as the rotary engine, whose engineers believe they can replace the piston engine in part or entirely.

Perhaps the only thing different in 1975 is the scale of the effort to replace the piston engine. The effort is at a record high.

Yet the idea persists that the powerful U.S. automotive industry is predicting the future is the piston engine because it is a money-maker the "big boys" are unwilling to give it up.

This is not true. At least one member of the Big Three has risked its future by its investment in efforts to find a substitute.

General Motors paid $50 million for exclusive rights to the Wankel rotary piston engine. At one time early in 1975 Chevrolet officials were planning to offer "next fall" some models with GM's new Wankel engine.

It didn't happen. There was but one reason. Despite all that GM engineers could do, their Wankel rotary could not compete in gas mileage or durability with their own constantly improved piston engines. GM undoubtedly has lost its huge gamble on the Wankel.

The piston engine has remained the workhorse of the nation for two reasons. It can deliver more power at less initial cost and it will run longer than any other motor developed anywhere in the world to this time.

Because the engine is comparatively inexpensive and so durable, it has been improved constantly. Its continuing potential for improvement is expected to be demonstrated in the next few years both in gasoline mileage and in pollution control.

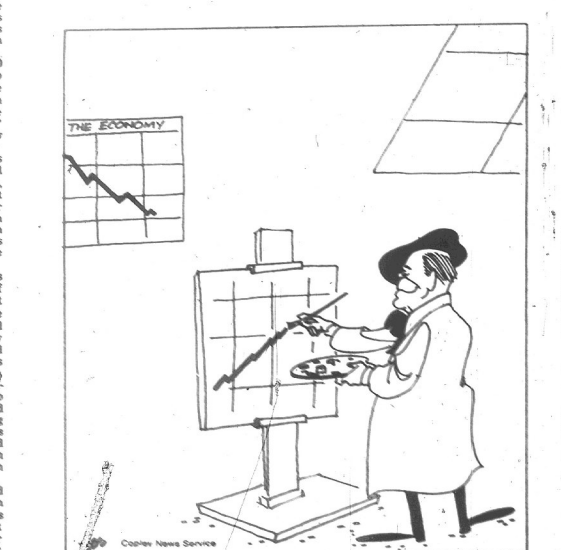

The piston engine has had two basic drawbacks from the beginning, drawbacks which are directly related. It is a relatively inefficient user of its fuel, which it does not burn completely, and it has always had an exhaust pollution problem.

A number of experimental engines most of them some form of the rotary have been built that burn fuels more completely, give greater mileage per unit of fuel and produce less pollution.

Unfortunately they have cost so much to build that they could not compete with the inexpensive piston engine.

overhaul and act responsibly

Rep. Tim L. Hall, Dwight Democrat, said the Rosenthal inquiry "is on the right track."

"I am aware of going to take a strong position that Constitutional guarantees are upheld and enforced."

Hall added: "I don't want to see the IRS become a CIA."

Rep. Paul Simon, Carbondale Democrat, said the IRS revelations suggest that "we've slipped in all areas — the CIA, the FBI — in all of them, into unnecessary intrusion into privacy."

"There's a limit to how much a government agency is entitled to intrude into the lives of people."

To Rep. Philip M. Crane of Mount Prospect, a vocal foe of big government, the IRS is "intolerable."

"These clowns get me," he asserted.

Crane says the "ultimate responsibility" for any agency's wrongdoing "can be traced to Congress" for failing its oversight function.

He said Congress, with its power of the purse, can exert its authority over all government agencies.

Rep. Edward J. Derwinski of Flossmoor said Congress "basically doesn't do a good job of exercising oversight over the IRS," and the laws and procedures under which it operates should be tightened up.

"I appreciate the fact that we have an efficient tax system. People in general are honest. Deliberate tax evasion is a minor percentage. IRS should not have a literal license to go beyond the law to get at suspected tax dodgers."

Derwinski said oversight should be conducted "regularly" rather than "sporadically." He believes Rosenthal "tends to over-nationalize" his hearings.

GRILLED LIVER DINNER EVERY DAY AT GRANTS - $1.35

SPECTACLED SPECTACLE. Photographed through a pair of plant safety glasses, Vincent Pollina, A. O. Smith Corporation's corporate safety director, displays 1974 National Safety Council Award of Honor, one of seven the company has won since 1965. The award is the council's highest recognition of industrial safety.

Mobile Meals program growing

Directors of Mobile Meals, meeting in the library of St. Elizabeth Hospital, were informed by Michael May, executive director, that the daily out-pat and delivery of Mobile Meals has increased to 35 to 37 meals daily.

May announced also that the preparation of these hot meals for shut-ins, the elderly and handicapped has been changed from an individual basis to an assembly line production, thus greatly reducing the time required to fill the personalized requirement of each recipient.

By changing to the assembly-line approach, May expressed confidence that if the service continues to grow, the present arrangement will be adequate to service up to fifty or more daily recipients.

The attendance at the meeting indicated considerable change in personnel in the all-volunteer program of Mobile Meals. Miss Mary Ann Menemeyer, social worker on the staff of Catholic Charities, represents the initial contact person.

Interested recipients or families of persons who are unable to prepare their own meals may call Catholic Charities, 877-1184, and ask for Mary Menemeyer. The social worker will make a home call on the recipient to determine the need and secure the name of the doctor who, in turn, will recommend a specific diet for the person as well as explain that this service features a full-course hot meal at noon, five days a week.

Miss Menemeyer will take the family physician's diet sheet to the social service department of the local hospital, where Miss Charlene Maxfield will take the new recipient's diet sheet to the kitchen, who will fill out an assembly-line diet card for daily use. All new cards and cancellation of present orders are handled by Miss Maxfield.

One of the most vital aspects of the program is the delivery to the homes by volunteers from some 40 churches, civic and fraternal groups. Mrs. Marie Whittle, executive director of Protestant Welfare, is in charge of recruiting and providing volunteers. If a church or group would like to assist in this community project, they may call Mrs. Whittle (678-4770).

To assist the three teams of volunteers as they arrive at the hospital daily, Jesse R. Brown serves as coordinator. Brown greets the new volunteers at the east entrance from the east parking lot, accompanies them to the kitchen, gives them their lists of recipients, assists them in checking over the meals to make certain their lists of lists of recipients assist them in checking over the meals for each person on the list, answers their questions and then sends them on their way.

Another major improvement has been the use of a new type of thermo basket to keep the food warm in transit. The hospital has secured a double set of these baskets, enabling the volunteers to take the food basket home with them instead of returning to the hospital.

The next day the volunteers return the old basket for sterilization and the hot meals for the new day are stacked in a different basket.

Even the book-keeping is accomplished on a volunteer basis. Mrs. Marcella Herman and other members of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority have been donating time for the monthly assignment of mailing out statements.

Inquiries in regard to receiving meals or serving as volunteers are to be directed to Protestant Welfare, 678-4770 or Catholic Charities (877-1184).

Research award to SIUE team

The U. S. Army Medical Research and Development Command has announced renewal of a research award to a team of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville scientists investigating the action of drugs used to treat African sleeping sickness or Trypanosomiasis. The award amounts to $45,000.

The research project, now in its fourth year as a recipient of federal support, is a collaborative effort involving investigators in the department of biological sciences, School of Science and Technology, and the department of pharmacology, School of Dental Medicine, according to Arthur C. Zahalsky, professor of biological sciences and project director.

"Treatment of the African form of the disease, which is transmitted by the bite of the tse-tse fly, relies on the use of very few chemotherapeutic agents whose mechanisms of action are poorly understood," Prof. Zahalsky said. "Some drugs can effect a cure if treatment is started early."

The bloodstream parasites responsible for the disease may penetrate into the spinal fluid and migrate into the brain. The cerebral form of the disease is often fatal.

"Trypanosomiasis affects domestic and wild animals as well as man. Historically, the spread of this disease has contributed significantly to the poor protein nutrition of the people who inhabit the vast regions of Central Africa from below the Sahara to the northern borders of the Union of South Africa," the project director explained.

Prof. Zahalsky said a major goal of the investigative group at SIUE is "to attempt to utilize certain drugs to weaken or 'starve' the parasites in the bloodstream organisms. These attenuated organisms will be used to determine whether a live vaccine can be developed."

Others participating in the research studies include David G. Brown, co-investigator and associate professor of pharmacology; Marilyn St. Zahalsky, co-investigator and senior research biochemist; Donald G. Meyer, professor of biological sciences and consulting parasitologist; Norman F. Nelson and Raymond O'Brien, research associates; Betty Tsao, graduate research assistant; Carol A. White, research assistant; and Rodney Bowie and James McDonald, undergraduate laboratory assistants.

Reds' tryouts this weekend

A tryout camp for baseball players will be conducted by the Cincinnati Reds on Friday and Saturday, July 11-12, at Salem, Illinois.

The camp is open to boys from 16 to 22. High school sophomores and juniors also are urged to attend.

Red's Scouting Supervisor Chet Montgomery will oversee the tryout, which is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Salem High School field.

Montgomery will be assisted by scouts Bob Jamison, Duane Majors and Emil Toffant.

All eligible players are requested to furnish their own personal gear—shoes, uniforms, gloves. The Reds will provide bats and baseballs.

In addition, players will be responsible for traveling and living expenses, if any, unless they are signed to contracts with the Cincinnati Reds organization teams.

Players must be 16-years-of-age to be eligible. All American Legion players must have written approval from their Legion coaches or post committee, if attendance at the tryout is in direct conflict with American Legion activities.
